Eisenhower, Frondizi Rededicate

BARILOCHE, Argentina (AP) — President Eisenhower and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi—in a Declaration of San Carlos de Bariloche — Sunday night rededicated their governments to strive for better living standards for the people of the Americas.

The declaration, issued shortly after the close of private talks between the two presidents, also declared that noninterference is the keystone of harmony and friendship within the inter-American system.

The two chiefs of state signed the one-page declaration at a hotel in this picturesque Swiss-type resort in the Andes foothills after returning from talks at a ranch across Lake Nahuel Huapi from Bariloche.

The communique said the discussions dealt with questions relating to the peace, liberty and cultural and material possibilities for the peoples of America.

The signing ceremony took place in a hotel dining room that had been stripped bare except for one long table. About 200 officials of both countries penned their signatures. After the signing, both men shook hands and embraced each other in the Latin-American manner.

Both Applauded

Both presidents were applauded upon entering and leaving the room. Eisenhower appeared to be in a genial, relaxed mood.

The declaration, coming after three days of talks between Eisenhower and Frondizi, said they decided to reaffirm the decision of their respective governments to promote standards of living for the peoples of America.

A better standard of living is the consequence of economic progress it said, and that this in turn depends on an adequate economic policy, friendly international cooperation, the efficient utilization of natural resources and the talent and capacity of the citizen.

Economic progress and better living standards, the declaration said, facilitate the development of strong and stable political institutions, permitting nations to make a more effective contribution for international understanding.

Also Improvement

Everything that serves to strengthen democratic institutions, it continued, contributes not only to political, economic and social progress but also to the improvement of relations among states.

The declaration next praised the inter-American system as an effective instrument for the achievement of peace and cooperation among nations. It reaffirmed the principle of nonintervention as the cornerstone of harmony and international friendship as a corollary to mutual respect between nations large or small.

The governments of Argentina and the United States will continue dedicating their efforts and energies for the achievement of these ideals, it concluded.

The Declaration of Bariloche was issued after Frondizi called for more U.S. financial and technical aid for Latin America. At a news conference, Frondizi linked the necessity for such aid to resistance against Soviet Russia's efforts to penetrate the hemisphere with its influence.

Frondizi met with reporters while Eisenhower was away for nearly six hours on a fishing trip in one of the world's finest trout streams.

The American president appeared weary when he returned from the fishing outing, where he caught nothing big enough to keep, but he took a nap and appeared rested when he left for the private conference with Frondizi.

At his news conference Frondizi said Latin America needs more assistance but he declared the primary burden in development rests with Latin Americans themselves.

That Depends

Asked if he expects the Soviet Union to make a successful effort to increase its sphere of influence in the hemisphere, he said, "That depends on Latin America's own efforts and the help it receives for its development."

South Aims Voices At Rights Bill

Anti-U. S. Disturbances Are Expected

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — New anti-American disturbances are expected in Panama next Tuesday — the "Independence Day" of the Canal country.

It is definitely known that student groups and other elements, largely Communist-instigated, are planning another march on the Canal Zone for the purpose of raising the Panama flag there.

In preparation for this possibly violent demonstration, all U. S. military leaves have been suspended.

Police Alerted

Panama police and other forces have been alerted. Panama authorities are reputedly endeavoring to avert the leftist-inspired outbreak, but U. S. officials are skeptical of these efforts. They are taking precautions to prevent a reptition of the rioting that occurred several months ago.

The House Merchant Marine Committee has been informed that a number of U. S. servicemen were injured in those disturbances. That has never been publicly disclosed.

Uneasy Truce Prevails On Segregation Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An uneasy truce prevailed Sunday on the Southern segregation front.

Everything was quiet in the trouble spots, but Negro ministers in Montgomery, Ala., where a Negro woman was hit in the head by a stick-wielding white man Saturday, reportedly asked their congregations to support peaceful student sit-in demonstrations against racial discrimination.

Montgomery police destroyed half a dozen race-baiting signs found tacked up on trees in white residential sections. The signs bore such messages as, "Have you fired your Negro worker yet?"

There was a bomb scare in Chattanooga, Tenn., Saturday night at a Negro high school gymnasium during a basketball game. The building was emptied quickly, but police found no trace of an explosive. The game was resumed.

Precaution Arrests

Chattanooga police, fearful of a recurrence of last week's disturbances, made 18 precautionary arrests during the night, breaking up groups and clusters of potential troublemakers.

In Nashville, Tenn., 75 persons, nearly all students, arrested after three fights broke out during a sit-in demonstration in a downtown variety store, were released on $100 bond each late Saturday night despite their earlier announced intentions to remain in jail over the weekend.

They came out of their cells after college officials personally appealed to them. They face charges of disorderly conduct and loitering.

Meanwhile, Negro leaders in Tuskegee, Ala., indicated they plan to further demonsirations like the one staged Saturday when an estimated 300 to 400 students at the famed Negro institute made an orderly protest march.

One Incident

The march provoked only one minor racial incident which was quickly handled by police. The Negroes said they felt they had accomplished their purpose in registering their feeling against denial of Negro voting rights, general maltreatment of Negroes and in support of demonstrations staged by other Negro groups in the South.

Nashville police had to halt auto traffic in one block of the downtown area when violence flared between Negro demonstrators and white hecklers.

The demonstrators carried mimeographed leaflets outlining how to accomplish the sit-in.

Paul Laprad, 23, Delphi, Ind., a white student at Fisk University and one of the demonstrators, said the leaflets were drawn up by students at various Nashville schools, but he declined to name the schools. The leaflets stressed nonviolence.

Other Material

The leaflets tied in with an announcement by the Congress of Racial Equality in New York that it is acting in an advisory capacity in the Southern demonstrations.

James Robinson, executive secretary of CORE, said his group plans to hold workshops to advise local groups how to conduct nonviolent demonstrations against segregation.

He predicted that the Negro student sit-ins at Southern lunch counters will continue for some time, and that sympathy boycotts will grow in the North.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) said in a taped CBS radio interview—"Face the Nation" — the Southerners have a chance of killing the civil rights bill or watering it down.

"I hope they don't succeed," he added. "But I think we're in for quite a battle."

Clark said the outcome depends a great deal on how the "uncommitted group in the Senate will act."

He said he preferred not to identify the noncommitted group by names but said it comes from Western and border states.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said on a television program taped for New York stations that he thinks it will be necessary to attempt to limit debate after a week or 10 days of around the clock sessions.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) said on another program recorded for New York stations that public emphasis seems to have been placed on provisions of the bill aimed at guaranteeing Negroes the right to vote in the South.

Russell Leads Talk Against Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said Sunday the southern forces he is leading in the fight against civil rights legislation are determined to talk the bill to death.

With round-the-clock debate scheduled to start Monday, after two weeks of preliminary skirmishing, Russell said the southern opponents have no detailed campaign plan but will "play it by ear from day to day."

"We shall undertake to talk until we present every phase of this matter to the country," Russell said in a TV interview (ABC-College News Conference).

He said that if a national audience could be shown all the damage to the Constitution and the union of the states that would be caused by the civil rights proposals "the people would awake to the fact that they are being sold a bill of goods." Then, Russell said, the people would demand that the bill be pigeonholed "and we believe it will."

Outside Inspired

The Georgian repeated his charge that recent Negro demonstrations in the south against segregated seating in variety stores are inspired from outside to stir up race riots that would encourage enactment of civil rights legislation.

Russell also characterized efforts to pass civil rights bill as "just a political field day" in a presidential election year.

As for his plans, Russell said he has no detailed strategy mapped out but wouldn't reveal his hand publicly if he did. He added that the maneuvers would be introduced "by degrees."

In one unusual move, the southern Democratic senators turned to congressional leaders to speed House action on a civil rights bill.

Faced with the prospect that the Senate might vote legislation endorsing school integration, Southerners agreed to go along with strategy designed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to bring what they regard as a more moderate bill before the Senate.

In line with this agreement they sent an emissary to Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) asking him to reconvene the House Rules Committee and advance House consideration of civil rights to March 3 instead of the scheduled beginning date of March 10.

Smith, who is chairman of the Rules Committee, has withheld any final answer on this proposal, largely because of the absence in Texas of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

The object of the strategy would be to get a House-passed bill to the Senate before the Senate gets deep into voting on its own version of the measure, now tied up in marathon talk in projected round-the-clock sessions starting Monday.

However, this probably would involve Senate acceptance without change of the House measure. And nobody knows now what kind of bill the House might pass.

Criminal Penalties

As it was approved by the Rules Committee, the House bill would provide criminal penalties for interfering with court orders in integration cases and for fleeing across a state line in bombing cases. It also would require the preservation of voting records and provide for federal schooling of children of armed services members in areas where schools are closed because of integration.

Johnson thinks the House may limit its amendments to the addition of a provision for setting up court-appointed voting referees. Rayburn has indicated this is the kind of bill he wants.

Southerners are not sure the measure will get by in this form but they are willing to go along with Johnson on the gamble.

Indonesia Loaned 250 Million By 'K'

BOGOR, Indonesia (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Sunday handed this neutralist Southeast Asian nation a loan of 250 million dollars.

In turn, Indonesian President Sukarno promised to keep neutral between East-West blocs.

Economic and cultural agreements and a joint communique were signed by the two leaders as a climax to Khrushchev's 12-day visit to Indonesia, which ends next Tuesday.

The economic agreement granted a seven-year credit, at 2½ per cent interest to be paid back in 12 years in British pounds or commodities rather than Indonesian rupiahs.

The two countries also agreed to enter into a trade agreement in which the Soviet Union would increase its purchases of Indonesian rubber and other products.

As a gift, Khrushchev announced the Soviet Union would build a new 200-bed hospital and clinic.

In the communique, Indonesia said she "firmly adheres to its active and independent foreign policy, a policy of nonalignment with existing military alliances." The Western-oriented Southeast Asia treaty organization (SEATO) is the only alliance in the area.

Khrushchev bowed to Sukarno's appeal for Asian-African representation at the summit by expressing hope that conferences subsequent to the one next May will include "appropriate countries of Asia and Africa" not aligned in any existing alliances.

Also, Khrushchev supported again Indonesia's claim to Dutch New Guinea.

The communique expressed hope for an agreement at Geneva ending nuclear tests, and lauded Khrushchev's proposals for total world disarmament.

Despite the huge Soviet loan, Foreign Minister Subandrio said this country still needs 500 million dollars for a basic program of industrialization.

Air Crash Survivors Critical

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Fifteen badly burned survivors of an Alitalia airliner crash still were in grave condition in hospitals Sunday. Seven others were recovering.

The death of Mrs. Longina Lisi Saturday brought the total fatalities in the Friday night disaster to 30. Most of the victims were Americans and Italians.

The Irish Sunday Independent said heroic action by Capt. Luigi Gentile, 45, pilot of the airliner, saved an Irish town from death and destruction.

Giving no source for its story, the paper said Gentile wrenched his "blazing and helpless" airliner off a course that would have sent it plowing into 100 homes.

There was no confirmation. But a witness at an inquest Saturday said the plane made a half turn before it plunged into a cemetery.

"Five hundred men, women and children in the town of New Market-on-Fergue were only three miles and a single second away from death when Capt. Gentile succeeded in veering sharply to the left away from the massed rooftops, gleaming in the moonlight 300 feet below," the paper said.

An Alitalia spokesman said it would be impossible to confirm or deny the paper's report. He described it as "pure speculation."

Limerick Regional Hospital officials said late Sunday night the only previously unidentified survivor has been named as Barbara Cologgi.

She is believed to be the daughter of an American survivor, Rocco Cologgi of North Tonawanda, N.Y.

Cologgi was accompanied on the flight by his wife, Rose, and daughter. The wife died in the crash.

Red China Head Okays Nehru Parley

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai of Red China has agreed to meet Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi in April in an attempt to settle their angry border dispute "in friendly and peaceful manner."

Announcing this Sunday, Radio Peiping reported Chou sent Nehru a note saying the Chinese government "takes a positive attitude toward the forthcoming meeting and has confidence in it."

Thus, after months of wrangling through exchanges of notes and letters, the two leaders will meet face to face and discuss their conflicting claims to 51,000 square miles of mountainous territory on the frontier.

Some Optimism

While Chou professed some optimism, Nehru, in his note Feb. 5 suggesting they get together in New Delhi, took a darker view.

"For the moment," Nehru wrote, "I don't see any common ground between our respective standpoints. Still, I think it might be helpful for us to meet."

In accepint he Nehru invitation, Chou's note, dated Feb. 26, said he hoped "to see the dark clouds hovering between our two countries dispersed through our joint efforts, so that the long-standing friendly relations between the two countries may be consolidated and developed."

Nehru had suggested a meeting in March. But Chou said that "owing to reasons in connection with state affairs, I shall come to your country in April." A specific date will be set later.

Chou first proposed in a letter last Dec. 18 that he and Nehru meet Dec. 26 either in Communist China, Rangoon or elsewhere. Nehru rejected the Chinese proposal, describing Chou's letter as "merely a reiteration of claims to extensive areas of our territory."

Nehru said he preferred to wait until Chou fully explained Chinese claims.

Involved are 36,000 square miles in the northeast and 15,000 square miles on the Ladakh plateau 1,000 miles farther west that are claimed by India.

In border clashes last year, 12 Indian policemen were killed. Chinese troops still occupy territory on both the Ladakh and northeast frontiers that India claims.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Development of a cluster of space engines with power approaching 10 million pounds is under way, Elliott Mitchell, an assistant director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, spoke of the engine system to a meeting climaxing National Enginers Week Saturday night.

Frozen Bodies Of 8 Found

THOMSON, Ill. (AP) — The frozen bodies of a couple and their six children were found in their beds in their home near Thomson Sunday night and the Carroll County deputy coroner said they apparently died of asphyxiation a week ago.

The deputy coroner, Dr. L. B. Hussey, identified the dead as Leroy C. Hensel, 59; his wife, Dora, 53; and their children: Judy, 17; Billy, 14; Leroy, 12; Susan, 10; Patricia, 8 and Jane, 7.

The family lived in a house on the Mississippi River a mile southwest of Ebner, a small railroad switching station just south of Thomson in northwest Illinois.

The bodies were discovered by Eddie Shuler of Morrison, an auto dealer for whom Hensel worked. Shuler trudged through snow drifts three feet high to check up on the family about 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Man Arrested

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A second young man was arrested Saturday night for the $6,241 robbery of a Germantown Saving Fund branch.

Police and FBI agents were waiting for Daniel J. Tumolo Jr., 18, when he came home.

He was charged with violating the federal bank robbery act and held on $10,000 bail for a hearing Monday.

Lovett Suggests NSC Inform Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett says the President should not be "protected" from making the hard decisions on national security.

In secret Senate testimony released Sunday, Lovett suggested that procedures of the National Security Council — the top defense policy body—may have tended to insulate the commander in chief from troublesome problems of the cold war.

Avoiding direct reference to any individuals or specific decisions, Lovett implied the NSC's present methods and size could discourage compromise and delay.

The Republican banker, who was undersecretary of state in the Truman administration and later secretary of defense until President Eisenhower took office, appeared Tuesday before the National Policy Machinery subcommittee headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash).

The Jackson committee has begun a series of hearings on whether a harder-hitting, faster-moving national effort can be brought about by revising the policy-making machinery.

Threat Greater

Four leading businessmen and scholars of government—all political supporters of Eisenhower — agreed in last week's opening hearings that the Soviet threat is greater than has been conceded officially and that the United States can and should do more to meet it.

A portion of Lovett's testimony dealing with the NSC, which he had a hand in creating in 1947, was taken in executive session by prior agreement with the White House.

Now cleared for release, it revealed that Lovett applied to NSC his publicly stated view that the State and Defense departments and other agencies are burdened by proliferating committees and overlapping staffs.

These factors, coupled with a reluctance of subordinates to expose policy conflicts before the chief, cause "vacillating administration and wavering policies," Lovett said.

"I think it is a real disservice to the President not to debate matters of some importance before him, because it denies him" the "possibility of seeing an alternative or an obstacle," Lovett said, with reference to NSC.

Lovett said he agreed with Jackson that it does not necessarily lighten the load of a president to bring him agreed-upon papers in which compromises but no real decisions are made.

"Don't you think there is confusion on the point that there is a tendency to help the President, to lighten his load, by trying to do his constitutional work for him?" Jackson asked.

"I do," said Lovett. "I think the President in his own protection must insist on being informed and not merely 'protected' by his aides."

Seamen Pay Homage To Air Victims

BUENOS Aires, Argentina (AP)—Sailors on the USS Macon paid homage in a moving memorial service Sunday to shipmates killed in a plane crash in Rio de Janeiro last Thursday.

Nineteen members of the Navy band, stationed aboard the Macon were killed when the Navy transport in which they were riding collided with a passenger airliner over Rio's harbor.

Sailors, including members of the band lined, up at attention on the bow of the Macon. Argentine sailors and officers from a nearby ship marched on board and lined up with the U.S. Navy men.

The Macon chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. R. W. Below, conducted the service. A hymur was sung by the" sea Chanters," the band's choral Chanters," the band's choral group. Below read the 22nd Psalm and prayed for the men who died. As the chaplain read the list of those killed, a sailor dropped to his knees in the middle of ranks drawn up at attention. He remained kneeling while taps were played by a bugler standing on a gun turret.

The chaplain then delivered a memorial to the dead men.

"In a real sense these men are heroes," he said. "They gave their lives in the cause of peace.

Church Heads Turn Down Walter's Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaders of six Protestant churches have turned down an invitation by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D—Pa) to appear before his house un-American activities committee to answer allegations of communist infiltrations in churches.

Replying to the invitation through a spokesman Saturday night, the leaders said they felt Walter's committee wasn't "the proper forum of congress to discuss the issue . . ."

They said they would be willing to appear before other congressional committees probing any military action jeopardizing the first amendment to the constitution.

Original Changes

The original charges stem from an air force manual which has been withdrawn from circulation. Walter said he thought the charges were true.

The churches represented are the United Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, Congregational Christian and Reformed, with memberships totalling nearly 18 million.

Set In Motion Track Plans

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Plans have been made for a six million dollar harness racing track near Philadelphia stadium.

Ward Sullivan, spokesman for a group seeking such a track for the city, said Saturday it would seat more that 30,000 and include a triple-deck clubhouse-grandstand.

It would be built on 85 acres leased from the city.

First, however, the people of Philadelphia county will vote, in the April 26 primary, on the issue of pari-mutual betting on harness races.

Mystery Shrouds British Ship

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A British freighter put to sea Sunday, leaving behind a mystery as to who stole naval intelligence documents from the captain's cabin.

Newark police broadcast a teletype alarm for an unidentified Negro who was seen Saturday aboard the Wharanui while it was docked at Port Newark.

Police said Capt. F. M. Williamson, master of the 10,000-ton vessel, told them someone broke into his cabin safe and took the documents and some money.

Plan For War

According to Williamson, British Intelligence had prepared the documents, giving the ship's plan of operation in case of war. They were in a sealed and locked canvas bag to be opened in the event of a war involving Britain.

In London, a British admiralty spokesman said the theft did not endanger any British code, since such documents are in simple language.

"We still have not got an official report but envy British ship carries naval instructions as to what to do if away from United Kingdom waters in event of war," the spokesman said.

The Wharanui had been at Port Newark for five days, taking on machinery and general cargo. Williamson told police he had been away from the ship since Thursday.

When he entered his cabin shortly after noon Saturday, he found the safe key on the deck and the safe open, Williamson said.

Money Missing

Also missing from the safe was $20 in U.S. Currency and 60 Australian pounds—about $150 — Williamson said. He reported a wallet containing $18 and immigration papers missing from a bureau drawer.

The Wharanui sailed at 9:10 a.m. for Philadelphia and Sidney, Australia. She is owned by the New Zealand Shipping Co., Ltd.

Meg, Commoner Attend Church

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones went to church together for the first time Sunday.

The appy engaged couple left their weekend retreat, the royal lodge in Windsor Great Park, while the dew was still on the ground and attended Holy Communion in the private royal chapel under the shadow of Windsor Castle.

Then, after breakfast at the lodge with Queen Mother Elizabeth, they went back to the chapel with other members of the royal family for morning worship.

Since both are members of the Church of England, there are no complications in this romance, which might have arisen had Margaret chosen a husband of a different denomination. They knelt and prayed together.

At the service they were joined by the Queen Mother, Queen Elizabeth's husband , Prince Philip, Princess Anne and couritess Andrew of Greece, Philip's mother.

Sisters did not get a look at the couple. The chapel is in the park. Other than the royal party, only workers on the estate attended.

Police fanned out around the two-mile-long fence surrounding the royal parkland as hundreds of sightseers drove into Windsor on a bright, spring-like day. Every measure was being taken to insure the couple's privacy.

Date Speculation

Speculation continued about the probable date of the wedding of the princess and her society photographer fiance. May or early June appeared a likely time.

In support of that date was the fact the court by then will be out of the three-month mourning period for Countess Mountbatten, aunt of Prince Philip, who died Feb. 20.

Paris World's Art Center

(One in a series of articles on conditions in France by David Ottaway, a former reporter for The Daily Record).

PARIS, France—By reputation and history this city is the art center of the world.

Why is this so?

Paris long has been a haven of sympathy for thousands of would-be artists. Some 75,000 painters are gathered here, taking part (and a chance) in a huge machine of market sales.

France is a country where art is nourished, where the artist is respected, and where painting is a legitimate profession. Paris is a city bustling with buyers speculating and collecting the masterpieces of tomorrow.

In the past few years the Paris art market has expanded dynamically into a vast field of speculation on which artists, art dealers and a growing number of buyers participate. Formerly artists developed over years of slow, frustrating work. Today stars of the painting world are made in a few years, because of Paris' particular world market.

Fall Unpustly

In a world of speculating buyers and anxious artists anything can happen. Artists arrive prematurely in the world of success and often fall unjustly from false heights.

Another weak point in the "system" is the quality of the work being done. While there are literally hundreds of small art galleries (and more open each week), the quality of painting is more and more questionable. And so is the sincerity of some painters.

In short, anything may sell regardless of its true value. Quantity thus increases the odds of success. Quality becomes an unknown and, in some cases, a secondary value. What is of primary importance is that the painting sells and money is turned over.

From the painter's point of view the good mixes with the bad.

An English painter of established reputation said:

"More painters can live by their trade today than ever before. The chances of success have multiplied many, many times.

Competition Rough

"We all have to come through the Paris market if we are to gain world renown. Competition is rough in a field of 75,000 artists.

He said the number of artists living solely on the sales of their paintings is limited, here in Paris.

The beginner, scrambling to find a gallery which will accept him, usually starts on a contract basis. He receives a salary based vaguely on the present value of his paintings. As the values of his work rises, so do his earnings.

The system is both just and unjust. While the painter is assured of some sort of stable basis for living, he does not receive anywhere near the sale price of his work.

The work of bargaining with endless prospective buyers is eliminated, but so is the freedom to produce how and when the painter pleases. The painter is both the basis and the victim of the huge market machine.

System Impersonal

The system is impersonal, yet it is necessary. It can make the artist or break him. In a few years, he may have established himself or he may be forced into a lower bracket.

Today, the Paris market is dominated by non-figurative and abstract art. The artists multiply, art galleries spread over Paris and the buying market enlarges from day to day.

It is wonderful to see and experience the love of art that is present in French culture. But it is disturbing to see an art market turned into a machine where money and speculation are the most important factors.

Dellaria Named For Area Rush Award

Medical Unit Cites Flood, Sewer Work

Paul J. Dellaria

PAUL J. Dellaria, of 58 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg, has been nominated for the State Benjamin Rush Award by the Monroe County Medical Society, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Evan Reese, secretary of the county society, reported yesterday that Dellaria's work on the East Stroudsburg Municipal Authority, on the present sewer project, in addition to his work during the flood of 1955 were the basis for the nomination.

In its citation, the society cites Dellaria's activities and services directed toward maintaining or improving the health and welfare of the people of the areas: Treasurer and a member of the board of the East Stroudsburg Sewer Authority.

"Mr. Dellaria served as the spark and driving force to stimulate the Authority to complete the plans and finally initiate the building of the needed and long-delayed sewer system.

Civic Minded

"He has long been active in civic affairs among which are: one of the three members of the original American Red Cross in the county working for the Blood Bank program. He is still serving as a director of the Monroe County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

"Served as a director of the Planned Parenthood Assn.

"Served as vice-President and member of the Board of the Community Chest.

"Is presently a director of the East Stroudsburg Little League.

"Is a past president and a member of the Exchange Club of East Stroudsburg, and he has devoted his efforts particularly to youth welfare projects.

"Is an active participant in the Boy Scout movement."

Citing his work during the 1955 flood, the society continued:

"During the flood disaster of 1955, Dellaria served in the following capacities:

"Chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Board of the Red Cross.

Handled Union Problems

"Secretary-Treasurer of Local 350 of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistant's Union of North America in charge of handling the problems caused by the flood for the members of his local.

"Appointed by the International Secretary of his union as a financial committee of one to extend monetary allotments to aid flood victims in Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

"Local chairman of the 'Friends of East Stroudsburg' committee, a group of volunteer workers from nearby communities who helped in the reconstruction work here immediately after the flood.

"Chairman of the Flood Committee of the Presbyterian Church.

"Chairman of the Flood Committee of the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club."

Cooperative

The comment by the county medical society reads:

"Mr. Dellaria has always willingly and actively cooperated with the medical profession of the county in any activity or program which would improve the health of our community. He has always been a staunch supporter of the medical society before union groups. His strong hand can be credited as being the foremost in the difficult campaign which finally resulted in East Stroudsburg acquiring its sewer system."

Symington Holds Lead

HILL CITY, Kan. (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri held onto a slight lead in Kansas Sunday as the state completed the process of naming delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Symington holds a slight edge over Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, although much of the Kansas delegation remains uncommitted and no presidential candidate has a majority.

The Kansas 6th District elected two delegates who favor Symington one who is for Kennedy and three who are uncommitted.

'Chosen Fews' Birthdays Today

By Jim Shafer

TODAY IS THE day for "The Chosen Few" to celebrate their birthday or wedding anniversary that comes every four years.

Many comments have been made as to what to do for this select group of people, but nothing has really been done and they do not seem the worse for it.

Being born on this added day (Feb. 29) of the year means to the woman that she will never grow old. Most women are only too willing to tell you their age realizing that they will probably never reach the age of 25.

To the men it is just another event in their every year life.

Wedding Anniversary

Locally the only couple known to have a wedding anniversary today is Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shellenberger of Delaware Water Gap, who will celebrate their 13th anniversary. The Shellenbergers' are proud of the fact that they are so young and like the idea of having three grandchildren and five great grandchildren to grow up with.

The "one-year-olds" are the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Snyder, Columbia, N.J. and the son of Thomas Seas Jr., Bangor, RD 3.

In Stroudsburg Jack and Joe Flemming will be celebrating their second birthday. In Bangor the son of Raymond Pagotto will be another of the chosen few celebrating.

Mark DeSanto, Stroudsburg, RD 3, will be making the most of this day as it is his fourth birthday.

Those about to enter and those already in their "teen's" are: Mrs. Alfred Morse, 540 Scott Street, Stroudsburg; Mrs. John R. Wellington, 816 Scott St., Stroudsburg and Mrs. Anna K. Meixsell, 1047 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg and Mrs. Homer Christman, Post Mistress in South Sterling.

To you who are celebrating on this added day, we the less fortunate wish you a happy birthday. May you have many more.

Sky Sphere Object Of Area Eyes

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. is at it again, and if anyone is wondering what they saw in the sky late Saturday night it was a giant plastic sphere shot into the sky about 225 miles.

The plastic bubble weighed only 130 pounds, but got as tall as a ten-story building when it went into lighter atmospheric pressure.

Purpose of the shot was to bounce a radio signal of a human voice back to earth.

A short, 12-sentence message was beamed at the balloon Saturday and was sent from the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Holmdel, N. J.

The success of the experiment was not announced.

Sees New Farm Setup By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) said Sunday he is certain Vice President Richard M. Nixon will come out with a new farm program of his own if, as expected he is the Republican candidate for president.

Mundt disagreed with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's view that the Eisenhower administration's farm program would be supported by Nixon or any Republican candidate.

In a taped MBS radio interview, "Reporters' Roundup," Mundt was asked if he meant to say Nixon would have a program greatly different from that espoused by Benson.

"I think he will come out with a new program which will be entirely independent of past programs," Mundt replied.

"I know he is taking a look because of the numerous conferences he is having with people from the farm belt, and because of the fact that he has told us he is in the process of setting up an advisory group to help him work with the solution of the farm problem."

The Eisenhower administration has pushed for relaxing production controls, a view that has been opposed by both Democratic and some Republican members of Congress from farm areas.

Stevenson Wins Election

METTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, twice defeated Democratic candidate for president, has won election to the board of trustees of this tiny village. He was unopposed.

Stevenson captured all 37 votes cast Saturday. Five other trustees, a village president and village clerk also were elected. They too were unopposed.

Top Italian Figure Dies

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Adriano Olivetti, one of Italy's top industrialists, died Saturday night of a heart attack aboard a train bound from Milan to Lausanne. He was 59.

Inheriting a small typewriter business from his father, he built it into a multimillion-dollar industry which included business machines and precision tools.

Last October Olivetti's company announced it was buying a 35 per cent interest in the giant U.S. Underwood Typewriter Co.

Olivetti also built himself a big name in Italy for his advanced social and economic ideas.

He was a pioneer in establishing a shorter work week and security benefits for the employes of his big factories in Ivrea in northwest Italy.

In 1956, he was elected mayor of Ivrea on a social-reform ticket. Two years later he moved into national politics with the Community Movement political party which he organized. His party piled up a big majority in the districts around Ivrea and won him a seat in Italy's Chamber of Deputies.

Poised For Big Count

The Bureau of the Census is going to start adding us up in March or April, and if the count includes all presidential candidates, the total could reach 180 million.

The 1960 decennial job, mandatory under the Constitution, is going to cost about 118 million dollars. When it is finished we should know a great deal more than merely how much we have grown since 1950.

The census takers will tally household appliances, automobiles, races, skills, educational attainments and incomes, along with our noses.

In this complex era the census statistics are important in research, marketing, industrial planning, public utilities, agriculture, education, etc., etc.

Approximately 60 million American homes will be visited by censustakers this spring. They will collect and complete the millions of forms to be distributed in advance by the Post Office Department.

And with that peculiar sense of timing common to bureaucracy, the census forms doubtless will arrive just when most of us are completing another questionnaire—for the Internal Revenue Service.

All of this should be interesting or an unwarranted invasion of privacy, depending on how you look at it.

About Face, Hup! Hup! One, Nine, Six, Oh!

Opinions Of Other Editors

More Irresponsible Spending

The general public should not be too alarmed over what was said in an Air Force manual which churchmen felt leveled an unwarranted attack on the church But the public should be alarmed, and rightly so, over the fact that the Air Force is wasting its funds on such publications.

This is the second time within weeks that a foolish manual has been issued by this branch of the armed forces. Earlier in the month it was disclosed that a manual gave directions to enlisted men on how they should serve drinks to officers and just what steps were required in giving the officers' dogs their baths.

This report created quite a stir and the manuals were withdrawn with proper apologies. But the funds already had been squandered and the Department of Defense was still at the White House demanding more money for "defense."

The latest manual stated that "communism has infiltrated the churches" and it further came up with the bold, but somewhat foolish statement, that the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, sponsored by the National Council of Churches, had about 30 persons who had been affiliated with pro-Communist fronts, projects and publications, among the 95 persons who prepared the revised text.

"A foolish remark often heard is that Americans have a right to know what is going on," the manual declared in another profound statement for the edification of members of the Air Force.

A thorough investigation should be made and blame for the publication of this and similar manuals and pamphlets should be placed where it belongs.

If the Air Force still feels that the day has come when fewer big bombers will be needed for defense, it should not be permitted to use funds needed in other areas to publish such foolish, expensive booklets which serve no purpose other than to pinpoint extravagance and waste in the Defense Department.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

The Chessman Case

The most astonishing item in the Chessman case is the general avoidance of mention of the crimes that Caryl Chessman committed. In all that is said about this man, little comment is made upon the fact that hecommitted rape, was a sex pervert, a robber, a kidnaper, a sadist and was arrested for these crimes.

Mrs. Ruth Shaw, mother of one of the girls he raped, had this to say:

"My daughter, Mary Alice, was only 17 when he kidnaped her, tore her clothes off of her and for four endless hours terrified her, hurt her, sadistically abused her and caused her to lose her mind and life among normal human beings."

Chessman's criminal record started in 1937 and ended with his apprehension in 1948. Why the State Department should violate the Constitution of the United States to seek a reprieve from the judgment of the courts for such a person can only be explained by a total negation of the sanction of law in our civilization.

The excuse that the rapist, Chessman, has become a hero to certain elements in South America, only reflects upon those elements; it must not be permitted to serve as a precedent for dictated judicial procedure.

Else, our courts crumble into dust and our laws become the whim of rulers.

Gov. Pat Brown of California has raised an altogether false issue, namely, capital punishment. Whether capital punishment is morally correct or not is a matter of private conscience.

If the Governor said that it is against his conscience to permit anyone, even a murderer or a rapist or a kidnaper, to be given the death penalty and that as a moral sanction, he, the governor, will pardon or reprieve such persons, that is his privilege and he must accept the consequences of his decision.

But Governor Brown did not say that. What he did say was:

"I was informed that there could be concern in this matter in view of President Eisenhower's trip. That moved me more than anything else."

The history of the reprieve seems to be that Richard R. Rogan, Chief Deputy Attorney General of California, solicited the support of the Federal government for aid for a reprieve for Chessman.

This was done despite the fact that Chessman was tried in California courts and he is a California convict.

Roy R. Rubottom, Jr., in charge of the Inter-American Desk of the State Department, sent a telegram to Governor Brown suggesting the reprieve.

It is not usual in State Department procedure for a man on Rubottom's level to send such a message, with its political connotations, without the approval of an Under Secretary of State or the Secretary himself.

It is to be presumed that Rubottom submitted his telegram to his superiors and that they approved. Lincoln White, press officer of the State Department, is reported to have said that Under Secretary Douglas Dillon approved the Rubottom telegram and that a copy was sent to the White House.

The Constitution of the United States in no place authorizes the President or the State Department to dictate the course of judicial procedure of any State. On the contrary, the Constitution specifies in the Tenth Amendment:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

In Kansas v. Colorado, the Supreme Court held:

"This Amendment . . . disclosed the widespread fear that the National Government might, under the pressure of a supposed general welfare, attempt to exercise powers which had not been granted.

"With equal determination the farmers intended that no such assumption should ever find justification in the organic act, and that if in the future further powers seemed necessary they should be granted by the people in the manner they had provided for amending that act. . ."

The Constitution is flexible but it is not so flexible that it abolishes itself by Executive judgment. In fact in the Sick Chicken Case (Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States), the Court held:

". . . Extraordinary conditions may call for extraordinary remedies. But the argument necessarily stops short of an attempt to justify action which lies outside the sphere of constitutional authority. Extraordinary conditions do not create or enlarge constitutional powers . . ."

Chessman, the rapist, raises the constitutional issue of Federal interference in a State case.

The Pennsylvania Story

Spirited Campaigns

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Spirited primary election campaigns are in the offing for a surprising number of Pennsylvania districts a check of the nearly 1,400 nominating petitions filed with the State Elections Bureau reveals.

At the same time it is perhaps a paradox in this presidential election year that on the statewide level, peace reigns virtually supreme.

For example, not a single blooded politico has been entered in the Democratic presidential field and on the Republican side, the name of Vice-President Nixon was shuffled in the last minute (nominating petitions were filed less than an hour before the filing deadline) — the only name to appear on the ballot as a presidential contender.

Of course, the entrance of a presidential candidate in either party primary is somewhat meaningless inasmuch as whatever the straw vote produces is not binding on convention delegates—and to all intents and purposes in Pennsyvania is a gesture at best.

In fact since Tuesday's nominating petition filing deadline when the name of Mr. Nixon was formally entered, there has been sharp criticism of the venture.

A number of backers of the "file-Nixon" move have contended spiritedly that it should produce a better GOP voter turnout at the primaries April 26 — thus helping "organization-backed" hopefuls on the local level and in the districts.

It is difficult to understand this line of reasoning inasmuch as the absence of a second name — thus providing anything but a sporting contest — can hardly be considered conducive to a heavy outpouring at the polls.

In fact, the feeling is growing in GOP circles around Capitol Hill that the move to insert the Nixon banner in the primaries may have a backfiring effect — through a lack of voter interest and a corresponding light vote only serving to produce an awkward showing for the GOP presidential hopeful!

Elsewhere on the statewide level, according to the nominating petitions filed, the office of State Auditor General is a no-contest affair in both parties.

There was token opposition on the Republican side in the trot for the State Treasurer post when GOP organization Candidate and now Auditor General Charles C. Smith faced opposition from a Lancaster County dentist.

Republicans are in the clear on the State Superior Court race, with incumbent Judge Blair F. Gunther seeking a second ten-year term with no opposition on the GOP side. Although he had filed both party petitions he is opposed by Democratic Judge Gerald H. Flood, of Philadelphia.

Thus in the big hammer and tong field there is virtually no ballot shuffling in the offing in either political camp.

The local scenes present an entirely different — and decidedly more interesting picture.

Spirited contests are on the agenda in a surprising number of cases in the scramble for seats in the State House of Representatives where all 210 seats are up for filling. The same is true in some of the 25 (of 50) State Senate seats on the block this year.

Surprising to many is the number of contests slated for delegates to the Democratic and Republican presidential nominating conventions. For once both parties are in the thick of it on this front this year.

Locally, April 26 looks like a fairly good primary for Pennsylvania.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

From busted beaks to flawless hands and intelligent minds is the transition of Harry Freedman, former host to pugilists at his retreat along the Delaware River.

Freedman, a trucking tycoon who has dabbled in about every business known to mankind, has started on a new venture which will bring together brains instead of brawn. However, the movement is nothing new to Harry.

The New Jersey resident who can breathe across the river on Keystonians with ease is endeavoring to get the area bridge minded. Not the kind that spans over rivers and other terrain but the kind where cards and partners play a big part in terming who is "king of the hill."

Freedman recently completed a specialized course at the Masters Bridge Institute at Lake Worth, Fla., is certified to teach the intricate game to others who wish to know the inside and outs of the pastime.

Now Harry doesn't need a teacher's parchment to let loose with the fine points of bridge. For twenty-some years he has been a master of the cards which more than any other game separates the so-called men and women from the boys and girls.

Present plans call for a twice-weekly lecture and tutoring session by Freedman at the Penn Stroud Hotel. His guarantee, "I'll make a bridge player out of a person after 10 lessons."

Freedman's first demonstration and talk is open to anyone desiring to learn the game. From then on it is up to the individual to go as far as he or she wishes.

Reason for Freedman inaugurating such a club is that he scanned the outside areas and found such clubs in Scranton, Allentown, Easton and Bethlehem but none in Stroudsburg.

Why, he wondered, didn't a territory like ours have a contract or duplicate bridge organization? He mused to himself possibly because no one ever took the time to start one.

"Bridge, Harry points out, "opens up a new world for people. Friendship, social atmosphere are only a small part of the assets of participating in a bridge game or tournament."

The Garden Stater who owns practically every bridge title in the Governor Meyner-run domain is also looking to the future where his clubs will be in full swing in Portland, Blairstown, N.J., and Bangor.

Bridge anyone?"

Interpreting The News

Strauss' Controversial Course

By Herb Altschull

BONN, Germany (AP) — Fraz Josef Strauss has put his foot in it again.

The West German defense minister, long a controversial figure in East-West relations, has come under strong criticism from his allies for the Spanish bases affair.

Some of his own associates in Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government say privately that Strauss' handling of the affair was inept. West Germany's allies and the political opposition in Bonn are inclined to agree.

But Strauss is not one to run away from a fight. And the word is that he is ready to keep right on battling for German acquisition of supply bases in Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain.

Strauss, at 44, is one of the most powerful figures in West Germany. The son of a Bavarian butcher, he is regarded as a strong possibility for the post of chancellor when Adenauer steps down.

And he is certainly a controversial man. The Communists call him a warmonger. The Socialists label him the minister of war. And officials among the Western Allies question his leadership ability because of his stubbornness.

Reliable informants say Strauss took the position a month ago that West Germany needs more supply dumps, that these are not available in NATO countries in Western Europe and that Spain would be a good place to locate them.

The Americans, British and French are known to agree with this fundamental assessment of the situation. But, unlike Strauss, they are concerned about the political and psychological considerations.

They recall that Hitler's Germany helped win the Spanish civil war for Franco. They know that the very sound of German-Spanish military cooperation is anathema in much of the world.

The allies were unhappy because the bases question was badly timed, coming so near to the May summit meeting in Paris.

For one thing the Germans are sympathetic to Spain's desire to become the 16th member of NATO. Strauss has now wrecked, at least for the time being, any chances Spain had of joing the alliance.

The Allen-Scott Report

GOP Medical Care Plan

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — The Eisenhower Administration will definitely propose some form of medical care for old-age social security beneficiaries at this session of Congress.

That's what Secretary Arthur Flemming has advised Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

It is Mills' unpublicized intention to begin consideration around March 15 of a number of proposals to liberalize social security benefits. When apprized of this, Flemming replied he will be ready by that date to present the Administration's plan for medical care for social security beneficiaries over 65.

Subsequently, in talks with Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, the head of the Department of Health, Education & Welfare disclosed that two proposals are being deliberated:

A "payroll deduction" plan costing an estimated $400 million a year, under which the government would issue medical care policies to social security beneficiaries upon reaching the age of 65. Under this policy, the beneficiary would pay the first $250 of medical costs, and the government up to 85 percent of the remainder.

A "payroll deduction" plan costing as much as $1 billion a year to provide 100 days of hospital and nursing home care for those over 65. The first $200 of such medical expenses would be paid by the beneficiary.

Also still undecided are the additional social security taxes these proposals would require. Estimates run from ¼ to ⅜ per cent for both workers and employers.

Vice President Nixon favors medical care legislation this year.

In the inner White House discussions on this highly controversial issue, Nixon is supporting Secretary Flemming in holding that the Administration should sponsor such a measure in this Congres.

The principal opposition is being voiced by Budget Director Maurice Stans.

According to Flemming, the final decision will be made by President Eisenhower after he returns from South America.

Rival Plans — A mainfest factor in this backstage situation is the Democrats' plan to liberalize social security benefits, including medical care.

They are making no bones that their strategy is predicated on the fact that Congress has voted such legislation every election year since 1948, and they are convinced this will be done again this year.

Under consideration by House and Senate Democratic leaders is a "package" social security program comprising the following:

(1) Allow old-age social security beneficiaries to earn up to $1,800 a year, instead of the present $1,200 maximum.

(2). Abolish the 50-year limitation for permanent disability payments.

(3). Increase old-age compensation by 10 percent for the 11,000,000 now on these rolls. A 7 percent raise was voted in 1958.

(4). Medical care for those over 65. A measure sponsored by Senator John Kennedy (D., Mass.) would provide 90 days of hospitalization or 120 days in a nursing home, but no surgical coverage. A proposal by Representative Aime Forand (D., R.I.) calls for 120 days' hospital care and doctors' fees for old-age beneficiaries and permanently disabled.

Estimated cost of Forands' plan is $1.2 billion a year, to be financed by a social security tax of ½ of one percent on both employees and employers. Self-employed would pay an additional ¾ of one percent. Anticipated cost of Senator Kennedy's medical care proposal is approximately half of that.

According to figures prepared by Secretary Flemming, raising the $1,200 a year earning limit for social security beneficiaries to $1,800 would cost $600 million. To offset this heavy additional outlay, the HEW chief contends it would be necessary to hike social security taxes by ⅛ of one percent. The present tax is six percent, divided equally between employer and worker.

Under this proposal, either an estimated 1,500,000 would be added to social security rolls or their payments would be increased.

Social security taxes are now being paid by 75 million individuals.

Needed Shot In Arm

Dear Mr. Editor:

At the April 26th Primary Elections, harness racing will be voted on in our county. This was possible because a great number of people believed that Monroe County "needed a shot in the arm".

It is to be assumed that all, or virtually all those who signed the petition, did so not in support of the principle that it is the people's right to vote on such a matter but because they really favor the idea of harness racing, which is truly a great sport, an attraction that the community will be proud to say "We Voted Yes for locating a harness racing plant in Monroe County".

It is a fact that four tracks will be located in Pennsylvania, then why not have Monroe County benefit by it?

Gov. Meyner of New Jersey has recognized that competition from Pennsylvania tracks will have an adverse effect on New Jersey's income. This last paragraph speaks for itself in regard to balancing our own state budget without passing the burden to you the taxpayer —get out and vote yes.

Just Between Us — —

—by Bobby Westbrook

There were reasons why they added the extra day for Leap Year to February which got gypped in the first place when days were being handed out, but it does seem to add a day to Winter of which we have usually had more than enough by the end of February.

It would seem much more festive to have it at the end of June, say, when we're still not tired of roses and balmy air. Actually the calendar doesn't have any effect on the seasons, with the sun rising one minute earlier and setting one minute later today, with no reference whatsoever as to whether it's February 29 or March 1.

Even Spring will arrive right on schedule at 9:43 a.m. on March 20 instead of March 21. The last snowfall and the first robins will not pay any attention to the calendar either.

But what this Leap Year Day will do is mess up our editorial vacation schedule. By ordinary calendars, both Christmas and New Year's would come on Saturday, but on account of the extra day they skip right over to Sunday.

You can, perhaps, judge what a happy state of mind I'm in when I start fussing about vacations that won't come until next winter. I guess maybe it's lucky there's the Stroud Community Club's spring Fashion Show tonight to turn our thoughts to Spring.

There are plenty of other indications if I were in any mood to look for them: the fact that the supper hour creeps up on you unaware as the daylight lingers; the notice of the federated club board meeting to plan for the Spring convention; the increasing stir of Little League Mothers, even if the Little Leaguers themselves haven't even started thinking about where they left that baseball glove last Summer.

Oh, we're getting there; but one day's delay, even if it's only on paper, is annoying.

WHIP IT UP

Small wire whips are inexpensive and indispensable in making many sauces; use it also when you are whipping up an envelope of instant potato granules. Interestingly enough, a whip will make the potatoes whiter than will a spoon because with it a goodly amount of air is incorporated.

Mental Health Discussion At Church Supper

Barrett—"To pin a permanently disabled tag on a person recovering from mental illness is the greatest harm we can do," about 80 members and friends of th Canadensis Methodist Church at the supper on Sunday night.

Mrs. Meyung is a charter member and second vice-president of the Mental Health Assn. of Monroe County.

"Mental illness," she pointed out is essentially no different from physical illness. Both require treatment, in both there are chances for recovery and a full return to a place in society. A great injustice is done when people unthinkably and primitively pin a 'permanently disabled' tag on either."

In its short three-year history, th Mental Health Assn. has been able to offer direct help to 79 persons; a part-time clinic is maintained for consultation with a qualified staff; it also provides small necessities and holiday remembrances for county residents now in Allentown State Hospital.

Mrs. Meyung also listed other services available through Mental Health, and appealed for financial help in meeting the needs of the increasing number of the mentally ill.

"One out of every ten persons will require some kind of assistance because of mental and emotional difficulties," she said.

The supper as arranged by the Evening Circle of which Mrs. Herbert Larsen is president.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

THIS AND THAT—

Every day of my life I learn things, and last Thursday was no exception. I had written a column about Edna Palmer Engelhardt's painting classes and lectures to be conducted Tuesday evenings during March and April from 7 to 10 p.m., at the BARRETT TOWNSHIP YMCA (not Stroudsburg—I was confused, apparently) and then, in a footnote, set in smaller type I talked about very special buys in our children's department. THAT paragraph aroused more attention than anything I've ever told in ten point. At least a dozen people said, "I made it a point to read every word . . . I figured in type that small you were probably reporting a scandal, or writing the story of your life." (The latter would make fascinating reading, I'm sure). One man informed me he even used a magnifying glass to read it, and another demanded, "What was the idea getting me all worked up over something that only told me the cost of children's dresses?" Strange thing, but it bears out an old theory of mine . . . if you desire NOT to be gossiped about in any small town, the best thing is to be perfectly frank about everything—from your debts to your age. Try to keep anything quiet, and everyone thinks, "Ah ha—there's something worth inquiring about—I'll just start snooping around." Even in a column, if you want everyone to read something use small type . . . there's nothing more exciting than a truth that's difficult to "get at!"

I love pretty table cloths, and while we eat only breakfast at home, I enjoy sitting down to a table that has, not just place mats, but an attractive fabric covering with a colorful pattern or print. None of these little cloths are expensive—in fact some are irregulars purchased during Wyckoff sales. But one of the cutest of all—and the one that has earned me more compliments than any other—is not a table cloth at all. It is a geometric print of aqua and brown on a white background, very tiny and old fashioned looking—that was selected from a group of "salesman's samples" last Spring and cost me all of 59c. It goes to the laundry, and comes home bright as a new penny, and it's perfect with my pine kitchen furniture. I am thinking of it now, because there's another table of salesman's remnants right now in our center aisle. These fabrics are heavier . . . better suited to covering sofa cushions, or small stools and chairs. They are interesting in texture, and the selection includes solids as well as tastefully blended colors. Rather large pieces sell for only 89c. There are many, many uses for remnants of this type, and the more original you are the more service and pleasure they will give you. See them today . . . and let your imagination take over. It's fun!

For the past few years, sofa pillows have been getting tinier and tinier, and frankly, I have hated them. When you are 5 feet 9 or so, you somehow ask a bit more ofa pillow than that it settle like a bright spot of melting ice cream on your sofa or chair. I like comfort. I like a nice, soft, sizeable pillow at my shoulders when I lounge around reading or watching TV . . . don't you? That's why I'm so pleased to find a new shipment of decorative pillows that you can really dig your shoulders into on our Wyckoff second floor . . . reasonably priced too! Some are solid color . . . others are in an array of silken stripes that remind me of the Biblical Joseph's many-colored coat. For those of you who like a well cushioned existence, these are the answer!

Wyckoff-Sears Credit Department Enlarged, Personnel Added

10 Die In Landslide

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — A landslide struck a passenger train between Maceio and Recife Sunday, killing 10 persons and injuring 17 in the crushed coaches.

Modernized Office Far Cry From Old

YEARS ago, the credit department of A. B. Wyckoff was a tiny ledger small enough to be carried around in the pocket of A. B. Wyckoff, the gentleman for whom the store is named, and grandfather of the present president, E. Holt Wyckoff, Jr.

By Madalyn Maloney
The Wyckoff Shopper

If a customer desired a few yards of unbleached muslin "on account," the notation was made on pages now crumbling with age, for credit has always been an honored phase of Wyckoff merchandising.

Today credit is a major part of the Wyckoff operation, long since having outgrown the "one ledger" stage, and even those subsequent phases that demanded the full-time services of one, two, and four persons.

As a matter of fact, there are so many thousands of names on the Wyckoff credit roster today it has been necessary to greatly enlarge the office that has served the store during the past decade, increase the personnel, and add a variety of new business machines that guarantee faster, more accurate service, while eliminating many steps required previously - employed bookkeeping methods.

All of this has been necessitated not only by the expanding credit lists of both Wyckoff and Sears, but because credit is more than a simple matter of charging.

Four Types

There are now four types of accounts available to the store's customers: the 30-day charge, which is to be paid in full each month; the revolving credit account, on which the store offers six times, in credit, whatever the customer wishes to pay each month; the time payment account which makes possible the purchase of big items such as Wyckoff and Sears appliances and Sears furniture for a small down payment, slight carrying charge, and monthly payments; and the home modernization account by which plumbing, heating, modern kitchens, etc., may be installed with a Federal Housing Administration loan through a local bank, to be paid over a five-year period.

The credit office of today is light and airy, with pastel-walls upon which hang paintings of Delaware Water Gap by Peter Heiden. New desks have been installed, and blonde-finished counters with green vinyl surface, designed and built by R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. It is here that all the necessary steps are taken toward becoming a credit customer.

Required Steps

First step, of course, is an interview with Terry Lloyd. If it is a Wyckoff account, the next step is handled by Lynn Werkheiser who, operating the new Graphotype machine, cuts a credit plate for the customer's use, and, on the Address-o-Graph, sets up the customer's name and address in order that he or she will thereafter receive in the mail all news from the store in the form of "flyers" and advance sale publications.

Once the account has been set up, sales transactions are reported by the salesperson to the credit authorization desk, presided over by Mabel Hufsmith, and charge slips are diverted to the bookkeepers, Mabelle Schatzman for Sears and Agnes Holdorff for Wyckoff's, who can tabulate accounts quickly and accurately with the aid of the recently purchased National Bookkeeping Machine.

Enclosures Have Many Advantages

AL DERENZIS of Joseph G. DeRenzis & Son, has this to say about casement windows:

If your home has casement type windows, you can still enjoy the advantages of aluminum storm windows.

Joseph G. DeRenzis & Son, distributors of Eagle-Pitcher aluminum storm enclosures, 21 N. 6th St., Stroudsburg, has a casement storm enclosure which offers four distinct advantages.

Al DeRenzis

Eagle-picher Storm Enclosures for casement type windows are installed on the outside and easily removed from the inside of most homes . . . and in a matter of just a few seconds.

Most important of all, they are unusually tight fit and assure rattle proof, positive protection against winter's chilly blasts. Fuel savings of up to 30% quickly repay the cost of the storm windows.

Built-in stainless weather stripping is available and cork-seal insulator strips help minimize bothersome condensation. Both of these features mean maximum fuel savings and cold weather comfort.

Let Peugeot Pay Your Airline Expense To Europe To Buy Their New Model Car

MAKERS of the famous French-built Peugeot 403 motor car have offered something unique in the field of foreign car delivery. They offer the motorist the opportunity of taking delivery of his new '60 Peugeot in Europe and at the expense of the car manufacturer. You choose what airline you wish to travel to Europe on, and Peugeot pays the bill.

The plan is meeting with widespread approval here in the states as it offers the buyer a chance to pick up his new Peugeot 403 in Europe where he can use it while traveling abroad. The car is delivered in Paris at no additional cost. Arrangements can be made to have it delivered in other cities of Europe by contacting your local dealer.

According to Robert Ziegler, owner of Barrett Auto Service in Cresco, your 4-door Peugeot 403 is delivered to you at just $2295 which is the exact price you would pay for it delivered locally.

When you have motored over the European countries you wish to visit, your Peugeot is shipped back to U.S. to any one of a number of U.S. ports at no extra cost.

Buyers find that spring makes a wonderful time to visit Europe and it is also the ideal time to take delivery of a new car.

The Peugeot 403 for 1960 offers a number of items as standard equipment that are extra cost items on most American cars. For instance, the reclining sleep-on seats, clock, heater-defroster sliding sunroof and a choice of either whitewalls or Michelin Racing Tires.

Peugeot quality is practically a legend among car manufacturers both here and abroad. Their inspection system through every stage of manufacture is second to none. This is quite evident when you witness the extreme quietness and smoothness of operation of this wonderful car.

Get the full story on this wonderful offer from Robert Zeigler or Howard Doll, sales representatives at Barrett Auto Service at the Post Office Building in Cresco.

Drylock Is Recommended

HAMILL'S Paint Center now located at 37 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg has a wonderful remedy for the water control problem confronting so many home builders, home owners and contractors. The answer is in United Gilsonite Laboratories (UGL) Drylock System.

The Drylock System provides complete masonry protection. It uses three scientifically formulated products — double-duty sealer . . . cement paint . . . and fast plug — to give homeowners, builders and contractors tested methods of controlling water penetration of mansory surfaces. Developed by United Gilsonite Laboratories, these materials have been subjected to the most severe on-the-job tests.

Hamill's Paint Center carries all three of the above mentioned UGL products. Drylok Double-Duty Sealer, for instance, is a coarse texture group type paint for filling voids in porous masonry surfaces where there is an excessive moisture condition.

Double-Duty Sealer is available in colors and can be used on walls above or below grade, inside or outside, on porous masonry surfaces. It is excellent for cinder or cement block, stucco, poured concrete, common brick and unglazed tile.

See Shiffer For Blacktop

THE appearance of a home can be spoiled easily by a muddy, rut-filled drive way. But a properly built blacktop driveway will eliminate dust, dirt, mud and the like from being tracked into home . . . however, just as a highway requires the right foundation for a minimum of maintenance, a driveway must be planned with equal care.

The right kinds of stone, sand and asphatic cement — in the exact sizes, grades and proportions — are needed to turn out a rugged, smooth and long-lasting blacktop driveway.

In making sure that a top quality blacktop driveway is obtained, much depends on the efficiency of a blacktop company's equipment — the facilities that dry and heat the stone and sand, then mixing them with hot asphaltic cement for thorough bonding.

Good For A Horse Laugh

Dear Abby: Our cousin is getting married. He asked my brother and me to be ushers at his wedding.

We just found out that the bride's sister (we call her "Horseface") is going to sing.

"Horseface" takes singing lessons but when she sings people laugh at her. Her voice is high and screechy. When she reaches for the high notes, the veins in her neck stand out and her face turns purple. Every time my brother and I even think of "Horseface" singing, we go into hysterics.

The ushers will be right in front, facting the people. Our mother says if we can't control ourselves when "Horseface" sings we shouldn't accept the honor of being ushers. Would it be wrong of us to ask our cousin if he can get "Horseface" off the program?

WANT TO BE USHERS

Dear Want: If you can't control yourselves when "Horseface" 'sings, say "neigh" to being ushers. It is out of order to express your opinion of the vocalist. Especially since she is the bride's sister.

Dear Miss Van Buren: I have just read your book, Dear Teen-Ager, and think it is the best book I have ever seen on the subject of modern teenage problems. You supply the answers in language that teenagers will understand and accept. Our school guidance departments are using it in their classrooms. I am sure it will help steer many a youngster in the right direction.

Sincerely,

Dear Abby: One of the girls who works with me asked my advice and I don't know what to tell her. You guessed it. She's going to have a baby and she isn't married. The guy says he will marry her but according to this girl she doesn't want to live with him because she doesn't care for him enough. But she wants to give the baby a name. She plans on marrying him and then divorcing him later. I told her she'd be ahead to apply for help from a local agency and forget about marrying him because in this day and age an unwed mother has a better chance than a divorcee. She's from off a farm and her father is a minister so she can't go home. Is my advice what you'd call good or not?

A FRIEND

Dear Friend: Marriage should be forever. To marry a man with the intention of divorcing him (even to give a child a name) is unwise. Your friend should call her local Family Service Association, or a home for unwed mothers for help in making arrangements. She can probably get support money from the baby's father.

Four Boys Drown

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—Four boys, aged 4 to 6, drowned in the Royal Plymouth Carinthian Yacht Club pool, which opens into the sea. The bodies were found by police yesterday morning. Bangor Man Honored By Realtors Unit

CHICAGO — George B. Plush, Jr., Bangor Realtor and appraiser was awarded the M.A.I. designation by the Governing Council of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards on Feb. 17. This designation automatically admits Plush membership in the Institute. Fewer than 2,900 appraisers have qualified for this designation since the Institute was founded in 1932. It marks only the second award of the designation in Northampton County.

To receive the M.A.I. designation, Plush had to be at least 30 years of age, had to have had a minimum of five years' experience in the practice of appraising, had to submit at least three acceptable reports on fee appraisals to be graded by the Institute, had to pass a minimum of two examinations, and had to have the recommendation of appraisers familiar with his work.

In working toward this designation, Plush attended and satisfactorily completed Institute-sponsored courses in residential appraisals at Swarthmore College in 1948, urban and commercial appraisals at Syracuse University in 1949 and Harvard University in 1954 and rural appraising at the University of Illinois in 1959. He is affiliated with Philadelphia Chapter No. 9 of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

For the past 14 years after his return from World War II service with the U.S. Air Force Plush has been associated with his father, George B. Plush, Sr., as a partner in the real estate and insurance firm of George B. Plush & Son, 24 Pine Street, Bangor, as a real estate and insurance broker and appraiser.

Plush also holds the designation of S.R.A. (Senior Member, Society of Residential Appraisers) and is a charter member of Lehigh Valley Chapter No. 23 of that organization. In 1958 he served as president of the Chapter and is presently a member of the Board of Directors.

Monroe Public Assistance Rolls Near State Norm

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27 — Against a statewide total of 3.4 per cent of the population dependent on public assistance, Monroe County rolls showed a total of 2.8 per cent during the past month, a check with the State Department of Public Welfare indicated yesterday.

Of the 1094 persons on relief rolls of Monroe County during the month, 447 were receiving aid to dependent children. Nearly one-third of the county expenditure of $40,441 was made to this group.

Next Largest

Next largest group was that receiving general assistance, a total of 330 persons, followed by the 194 persons receiving old age assistance. Blind pensions were issued to 63 people and aid to disabled accounted for the other 60 people on DPW rolls.

More cases were opened than old ones closed during the month —53 opened as compared with 37 closed. Loss of income from employment of case members was the most frequent reason for the opening of new public assistance cases.

Seventy-two applications for assistance were filed during the month in the county; 47 for general assistance, 13 for aid to dependent children, six for old age assistance, three for blind pensions and three for aid to disabled persons.

Cheats Hurting Honor System

MOSCOW (AP)—There has been cheating in the honor system of paying fares installed for Moscow's buses three months ago.

An inspector, checking up on the honesty of Muscovites, took along a photographer for Moscow Pravda, the newspaper said Sunday.

They caught three men and a woman who were taking a ride without dropping tickets in the fare box. The four were fined and photographed on the spot — and their pictures appeared in Moscow Pravda.

Warriors Enter Final Hoop Week

EAST Stroudsburg State College heads into its final week of basketball in what is probably the "foulest" season the Warriors have ever recorded.

Dick Luce's team has lost 13 ball games but in nine of the losses has outshot the winners from the floor, only to lose from the foul line.

Wilkes College was the latest to win one from the foul line. The winners hit only 26 field goals, seven less than East Stroudsburg but added 26 of 35 foul shots for an 82-79 win at Wilkes-Barre Saturday.

The Warriors, who have yet to win a close game, blew a 15-point lead in the second half and lost the game when Joe Kemps hit four straight foul shots with less than a minute to go.

Russ Hopewell, who ranks in the top 25 NAIA scorers with a 21 plus average, was the game's high scorer with 31, followed by Tony Salerno with 24.

The Warriors get two home chances this week to shin-up a lack luster season. Tomorrow they meet West Chester. The same was scheduled for Wednesday but changed because of a dance revue.

End Saturday

Saturday the locals close their season against Kings, which beat East Stroudsburg in the season opener.

East Stroudsburg has not had undue difficulty hitting from the foul line, its problem is getting there.

Against Mansfield the Warriors got only 12 trips to the foul line and hit seven. In losing to Scranton University 66-64, The Hill Toppers had only nine free throws chances, while Scranton paraded to the charity stripe 34 times.

Coaches Have Different Reasons For Mountaineer's 79-66 Victory

BOTH OPPOSING coaches had different versions of why Stroud Union beat East Stroudsburg 79-66, at Eastburg Saturday and both reasons were valid.

"We tried to keep the ball away from Williams (Tod) and Loeffler (Roy)," said Doug Schoonover, Cavalier coach, "and two men who don't score too much from the outside, started hitting."

Schoonover was speaking of Mike McMahon and Doug Wright. McMahon popped in three buckets from the corners in the first half and Wright, who replaced him in the second quarter, hit six points on long jumpers and added two more on a dive-in.

"It was Loeffler's rebounding and William's foul shooting that won it for us," said Mountaineer coach Bob Wert.

Loeffler, who was the game's high scorer with 22 points, grabbed 17 rebounds. He hit most of his points on rebound shots.

Loeffler High

Williams, who carried a 20.6 scoring mark into the game, hit on 10 of 12 foul shots and added four field goals for 18 points.

Williams ended the season with 429 points in 21 games, for a 20.4 average. The six-foot, four-inch senior hit on 129 of 157 free throws during the season, for 73 per cent, which should rank him among the free throw leaders in the state.

Tight Zone

East Stroudsburg's tight zone on the small floor made it almost impossible for the outside men to get the ball into Williams and Loeffler.

Bill Hillman, led the Cavaliers in scoring with 18 points, nine of them in a minute and 15 seconds stretch at the beginning of the third frame.

Sophomore Glen Kane followed Hillman with 16 and Doug Metzgar added 11.

Sharp Contrast

The game was a sharp contrast from the first two meetings of the teams this year. In those affairs, it was close all the way, with Stroud Union winning the first game, 62-55 and losing the second, 55-52.

But the Mountaineers had things their own way from the second quarter on in the rubber match.

Eastburg matched the Mounties until the five minute mark of the second period but John Martin hit a long jump shot from above the key and the West Main Streeters were in front 30-24.

Only seconds earlier, Stroudsburg junked its 1-2-2 zone defense and went into a man-for-man set-up.

Hindman Breaks Loose

It hampered the Cavaliers on their first trip down the floor but the next time they moved into new offensive patterns and shook John Hindman loose under the bucket for a lay-up and the scoreboard showed Stroud in front, 26-24.

But the Cavaliers blew easy lay-ups on the next two offensive attempts and Stroud Union grabbed five quick points to make it 31-24.

The Mounties kept the attack moving and dumped in 16 points in the next three minutes, while Eastburg counted only half as many.

Williams got eight points and Loeffler six in the closing burst, and it was 47-33, Stroud at the intermission.

Kane Opens Half

Kane opened the second half by grabbing the tip and dribbling all the way for two points.

Then Hillman went into his one man act. He bagged a jumper, three lay-ups and added a foul shot in 75 seconds. But Stroudsburg managed three buckets between Hillman's antics, and it was 53-44 with 6:45 left in the period.

The Cavaliers got within nine, 59-50 midway in the period, but the Mountaineers, who returned to their 1-2-1 zone in the second half, worked the boards well and limited the losers to only two field goals in the final period.

The jayvee game produced most of the fireworks, as Stroud Union edged Eastburg 43-40.

Eastburg matched the winner's output in the final quarter, 17-17 but threw the ball away on numerous trips down the floor.

Henry Ray scored 23 points, 15 on foul shots to lead all scorers. Stelle had 12 for the losers.

ESSC Council Will Present Bennington Dance Unit

WEDNESDAY night, Mar. 2, the Entertainment Council of the East Stroudsburg State College will present The Bennington Dancers from Bennington, Vt. The program will begin at 7:30 and will be held in the college auditorium. The general public is invited.

The Bennington College Dance Group takes "to the road" every two years during the college field program or non-resident term. Their appearance here is a repeat invitation by popular demand because of their excellence in the art of modern dancing.

The all-student group prepares its own dances, the choreography is done by junior and senior students, and the dances are set to classical and contemporary music. In addition, this group arranges its own itinerary, transportation arrangements, publicity, and personal contacts necessary to make their tour a success.

Toured East

Already this year, the Dance Group has toured the Eastern Seaboard and performed in many colleges and universities. On occasion, it is invited to spend several days on a single campus to teach, lecture, and perform. At times, the group has appeared on local TV programs where a greater number of people are able to appreciate its superior talents.

The program to be presented Wednesday night includes the following selections: "Dance of the Piper" with Israeli folk song adaptation; "Ceremony of Innocence" with music by Harrison; "The Haven," another Israeli folk song adaptation; "El Grito" by Cravez; "In Flight" by Bartok; "Rite" by Cage; "Tom, Dick or Harry" by George Lewis; "Handful of Thorns" by Nowak; and "To Sing Again" by Schubert.

The dance group consists of eight dance student majors with a wide variety of backgrounds and experiences. Julie Arenal, partly of Mexican decent, is a senior and specializes in folk dance. Stanley Berke, a graduate student at Bennington, is a native of Cairo, Egypt, and has studied with the world's outstanding teachers of dance. He has also been a guest performer of many of the famous dance groups in the United States.

3-Year Veteran

Jane Lapiner, a native of New York City, is a junior and has studied at Bennington for three years. She has also studied dance in Scotland and London, England. She has been a performer with many professional groups in this country.

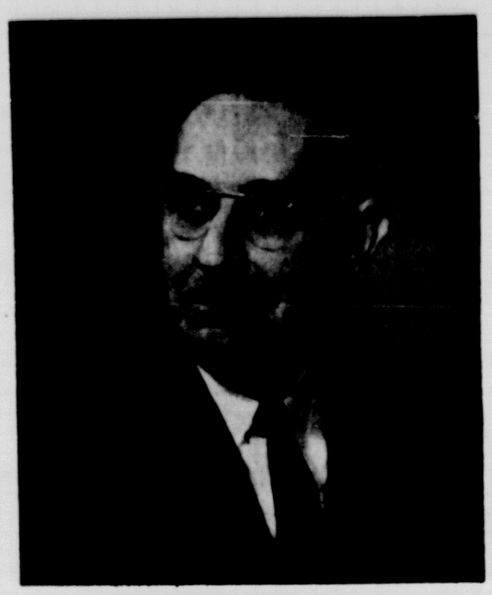

Tryntje Ostrander, a senior at the Vermont college, is a native of Washington, D. C, but received her primary education in Berlin, Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. She excels in modern dance and has had wide experience teaching in that field.

Rochelle Sholder is a native of Darien, Conn., and participates with the group both as a dancer and choreographer. She is especially interested in teaching modern dance to children's groups.

Dimitra Sundeen originates from Duluth, Minn., and is a junior at Bennington. This performer has had wide experience in this country and her services are constantly sought to teach dance in private schools and summer camps.

Shannon Theobald is a native of Buffalo, N. Y. and a junior at Bennington. In addition to her active interest in dance production, this student is studying dance therapy, which field she expects to enter upon graduation. She also serves as business manager of the group.

Meryl Whitman, a junior, is a native of Worchester, Mass. Most of her dance experience has been gained with well known professional groups in the New England States.

Ayrshire Completes Record

SIR Robert's Silvia an eight year old registered Ayrshire cow owned by Milton C. Ernst of Easton, Pa., has recently completed an official record of 14,780 pounds of milk and 517 pounds of butterfat while milked but twice daily and for a testing period not exceeding 305 days in length.

In making this announcement, David Gibson, Jr., secretary of the National Aryshire Breeders' Association at Brandon, Vt., advised the record is equal to over 23 quarts of milk per day for the 10 month test period.

It is one of the many good records being made by Ayrshires on HIR and the newer DHIR testing program.

Lawrence Out To Appeal Foreign Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence goes to Washington Monday to ask that Pennsylvania be expempted from a plan allowing foreign firms to participate in federal road-building contracts.

The governor, armed with state figures concerning unemployment and high cement and steel production, plans to meet with Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller. He will be accompanied by Sens. Joseph S. Clark (D) and Hugh Scott (R) and other state officials.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads last December advised states to accept foreign bids for road-building contracts when they were lower than bids by American firms.

The State Highways Department already has appealed the bureau's decision on the grounds that Pennsylvania, the nation's leader in cement and steel production, would be jeopardized by it.

Jobless Figures

Lawrence Saturday released these unemployment figures on which he will base his appeal:

Although the statewide unemployment rate, as of mid-January, was 8.2 per cent, "there are numerous areas in Pennsylvania where unemployment exceeds 13 per cent of the labor forces."

(He listed them as Uniontown-Connellsville (18 per cent) Altoona (14.9), Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton (14.-6), Pottsville (14.5), Johnstown (13.3) and Scranton (13.2).

The federal directive permits exemptions in the national interest, for national security or if the material produced is in an area of substantial unemployment.

Plan Study Of Expenses

Plan Study 4

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Lawrence administration is re-appraising the state's system of paying for the living expenses of institution superintendents and state college presidents.

David H. Kurtzman, secretary of administration, said Sunday that study was suggested in 1958 by the attorney general's office because the present system "was not proper."

Kurtzman has called a meeting Tuesday of departmental representatives who supervise the operations of the various state institutions.

Under the present system, institution heads and sometimes other personnel in all but public welfare institutions, are allowed $2,400 a year for living expenses, Kurtzman explained. The figure is $1,200 annually for public welfare personnel.

The allowance is either deducted from the person's pay or added to it.

Asked if the re-appraisal was in any way prompted by a suspicion that some public officials might be abusing the system and lving too high, Kurtzman told The Associated Press:

"There have been more rumors about that than facts. We're not out to punish anyone but rather we are interested in establishing a new system that is both adequate and fair."

"Whereas now a flat sum is provided, the proposed new system would base the sum on the individual's own pattern of living," Kurtzman said.

RADIO FREE EUROPE ENCOURAGES US TO LIVE...

A quote in a letter received from Romania. Proof that people listen and learn from RADIO FREE EUROPE. Learn that freedom still exists in the world . . . that the truth is not dead.

But RADIO FREE EUROPE needs your help to remain on the air. Needs your help to bring the truth to 76 million oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain.

Your dollars are needed.

Dollars that pay for transmitters, announcers and trained personnel. So, don't let the Reds crush the truth! Keep the truth alive by keeping RADIO FREE EUROPE on the air. Give the gift of free men and women . . . give the truth by sending your dollars to:

TOBYHANNA — First meeting of a newly-reorganized Boy Scout Troop 91 here will be held on Wednesday, March 2, at 7 p.m. in the Tobyhanna Signal Depot Chapel Center.

M-Sgt. Richard Newhard, stationed at the depot, will serve as scoutmaster.

The Tobyhanna Lions Club sparked the drive to reactivate the local boy scout troop, sponsoring a course in scout procedures for interested parents in the area.

Conduct Course

The three-session course, which ended last week, was conducted by George Dodd and Donald Robbins Jr., both Tannersville.

Post Chaplain (Capt.) Francis P. Patterson was appointed chairman of the scout committee. Other committee chairmen are: M-Sgt. John Wallace, property; Maj. Thomas S. Hanson, advancement; John Cadue, treasury; Melvin Reddicks, outdoor activities, and John Darden, publicity.

Of the total, Ishihara said, 279,-700,000,000 yen — $776,944,444—is for reparations for Burma, the Philippines, Indonesia and South Viet Nam. The remainder is for special claims.

Flames Halt Miners Search

BERLIN (EP) — Flames forced abandonment Sunday of the search for 74 East Germans trapped for six days in a coal mine at Zwickau. Radio East Germany said a fast-spreading underground fire forced back rescue teams trying to reach men entombed in the mine. This makes the death toll for this mine disaster 123 since 49 bodies were recovered earlier.

Keystone Solons Sponsor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania senators Joseph S. Clark (D) and Hugh Scott (R) are among sponsors of a new bill to end air pollution.

The bill introduced Saturday by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (D—Calif) would increase annual appropriations for research and investigation and would remove the terminal date for the United States surgeon general to hold hearings and investigate air pollution problems.

President Backs Red Cross Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Americans Sunday night to respond generously with donations to the annual Red Cross drive starting Tuesday.

His filmed and taped-in-advance remarks were the signal for two million volunteers to start calling on neighbors to raise during March 95 million dollars for the relief society's work next year.

Heading the campaign is Theodore V. Houser, former board chairman of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Eisenhower, noting that March is Red Cross Month, said: "Througout our nation, the Red Cross will be seeking to raise the funds needed to keep it on the job. All of us need to come promptly and effectively to its support."

Orderly Performance

By William A. Doyle

. I am what you would call a new investor. Because I have read and heard so much about "tight money" and high interest rates, I thought it would be best to invest in companies that don't have big debts. I bought some Stewart-Warner stock.

This is a well-diversified company. It has paid cash dividends for 21 years. In the past four years it also paid stock has been split two for one and the cash dividend payout has been increased 20 percent.

Why isn't this stock traded more actively?

A. Your reasoning about the tight money situation makes sense — to a point. When money is "tight," interest rates are naturally high. Companies that borrow money during such a period (we're in one now) have to pay high interest rates.

However, borrowed money can be put to good use. A company will borrow money with the object of putting the money to work and earning more on the money that it pays in interest. This is the principle of "leverage."

Stewart-Warner has no funded debt (bonds, debentures and such) and no preferred stock. Its only outstanding security is its capital stock.

As you point out, that conservative capitalization has worked well for the company. Its good dividend record has been a big factor in giving the stock a rating as a high-grade investment. It has been a good long-term investment and should continue as such, even though the company's earnings have dipped from time to time.

So, why worry whether or not there is a lot of trading in the stock? Stewart-Warner's market performance could be called "orderly." In line with most other stocks, it fell in price early this year. If it was very actively traded it might take some price swings that would give you heart failure.

Q. The big advisory services never recommend the stocks I own. But some of those advisory services do recommend stocks I wouldn't buy with counterfeit money. Why?

A. You had better ask each of the advisory services to answer that one — individually. Those services (which supply information and recommendations about the market in general and specific stocks in particular) normally put a great deal of effort into their work.

None of the services is right all the time. Some have good records. Some have so-so records. And others have been almost complete flops.

Right here I want to say that I refuse to name any of the services in this column. That's a sure way to get into trouble.

Q. My broker says the reason that a certain stock I own hardly ever moves up in price is because it doesn't have any "sponsorship." What in the world is sponsorship?

A. That's a broad term... It can almost be defined as popularity. When a stock is recommended by advisory services, brokerage firms and a group of influential investors get interested, it is said to have sponsorship.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

New FILTER-AGITATOR

Maximum Lint Removal

Positive Detergent Distribution

Greater Washing Effectiveness

The exclusive Maytag Filter-Agitator is the most revolutionary change in the agitator since it was invented by Maytag. It's new, it's fabulous, and it's available only in Maytag.

MAYTAG AUTOMATIC

New full time filter is under water where all lint is filtered out as water circulates through agitator. No pans or trays to get in the way.

Detergent dispenser in agitator prevents damage to fabrics from undissolved detergent. Simply add detergent; circulating water dissolves it completely before it comes in contact with clothes.

Wash water circulated through the Filter Agitator is forced out through channels in the bottom to amplify normal agitation. Loosens even deep down dirt in seconds.

PLUS THESE ADVANCED FEATURES:

• Cold Water Wash and Rinse • Delicate Fabric Cycle
• Two Speed Action • Automatic Water Level Control
